MERCY BOYS ARE TALENTED MUSICIANS

Three of our boys living at the Mercy Children's Home in Nepal are very talented musicians. In the photo below, Pastor Janga's son, Nelson is on the far left. Joel is the drummer, and Henry (in back) and Ason are playing guitars. They are also excellent singers. They are hoping to make an album within the next 2 to 3 years. Henry and Ason play in their church's Worship Team. All the boys enjoy playing cricket and soccer. They would like to join a league to play other teams, but the cost of joining and buying uniforms would be at least $500, so that hasn't been possible. Since being quarantined during the Covid-19 lockdown, they have more time to devote to honing their musical and athletic skills.
